EMBA Residencies

Responding to Dynamic Times: Thinking Strategically for Executives (Opening Residential): Scheduled prior to your first day of class, the offsite five-day opening residential will introduce you to your class and study group of fellow professionals before regular classes begin. You’ll work intensively with your small study team to engage in case analysis, class discussion, presentations, and group projects while learning about senior-level organizational design, culture and power, group processes, competitive analysis, corporate strategy, and business ethics.

Global Business II (International Residential): This unique week-long immersive global experiential course is a highlight of the EMBA program. You will gain first-hand experience in international business through an onsite team project that addresses a real business challenge, which is presented upon completion to the senior executives of the organization. You will also visit with companies and learn how executives effectively navigate through economic, regulatory and cultural challenges in their host country to sustain a global competitive advantage. Recent residencies have included trips to India, Myanmar, Vietnam, Hong Kong, Shanghai, and Chongqing.

Executive Leadership (Closing Residential): The EMBA program culminates in a five-day residential course on executive leadership. This course will provide you with a clear perspective on your assumptions as a leader, as well as how others perceive you as a leader. Through the course, you will learn new tools for improving your leadership as an executive. You will also prepare for the future through the creation of a Career and Life Plan. The focus is on actionable steps that build upon your experiences to move you forward as a leader in your organization and industry.
